

Choosing your cornice and Accessories

Even the smallest details can make a difference to the aesthetic harmony of a room. Interface cornices are the perfect finishing touch to help you create the style you are looking for, especially when balanced with other interior design features.

Choosing your cornice

Choosing a cornice that's right for your home is more about your personal style than any hard and fast interior design rules.

There is a wide range of cornices available at Interface, from simple styles that are right at home with any décor, to styles that are designed to complement other key architectural and internal design elements such as architraves and skirting's. So if you are planning a contemporary designer décor with square finished window frames or chamfered skirting's, a cornice with more clean, geometric lines would be a good choice. With more traditional furniture styles and colonial architraves, a cornice with more formal curves and accents maybe a better complementary choice.

At Interface our cornices vary in profile and in depth. Smaller cornices can improve the perception of height and space in rooms with lower ceilings.
